Our Approach

Queens Counseling for Change uses evidence-based approaches combined with emerging practice techniques to maximize a client's ability to engage positively with their treatment experience. All counselors have years of experience and work collaboratively with each client to create treatment goals and plans that will create the change behaviors needed to maximize their benefits of treatment. Each client is placed in a group that not only meets their scheduling needs but provides them with an opportunity to express themselves openly without judgement. QCFC welcomes and respects cultural diversity.

About Us

Queens Counseling for Change was chosen as one of only three approved sexual offender treatment programs by the NYC Department of Probation in 2007. The agency assisted the Department in their development of policy and procedures regarding supervision and treatment of sexual offenders. The agency was chosen in 2009 to be the primary provider and assisted in the development of the specialized court part in Queens County supervising sexual offender cases.
